

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The addition of personally valuable information to graphical content to reduce theft of the content is disclosed. The showing of the personally valuable information within the content deters users from disseminating the content. The information may be a credit card number of the user, address information of the user, or another type of personally valuable information.

354897 1.DOC